

ARCH Healing Practitioner Class

"Vibrational medicine is Einsteinian medicine, since it is Einstein's equation which gives us the key insight toward understanding that energy and matter are one and the same thing... Medicine is on the threshold of discovering a hidden world of unseen energies that will help to diagnose and heal illness as well as allow researchers to gain new insights into the hidden potentials of consciousness. Researchers will discover that the etheric body is an energetic growth template which guides the growth and development as well as the dysfunction and demise of all human beings... Medicine will begin to comprehend that it is at the etheric level that many diseases have their origins" (Gerber, Richard; Vibrational Medicine. Rochester, Vermont: Bear and Co, 2001).

About ARCH® (Ancient Rainbow Conscious Healing)?

What is ARCH® ?

ARCH is a modern healing technique channeled by Laurie Grant in 2000 (see www.archhealing.com for the complete story). ARCH draws from Hawaiian Healing techniques used by the ancient Kahuna healers. ARCH is capable of healing and renewing by energizing and cleansing the body's chakras.

Chakras and Health

Chakras are the body's energy centers. Anatomically, each major chakra corresponds with a major nerve plexus and endocrine gland. Blocked chakras result in energy imbalance which can lead to imbalance and disease. Most people do experience blocked chakras from time to time. An example of how a blocked chakra can manifest in one's life is:

If one is having trouble communicating then one's throat chakra (located at the throat) might small and elliptical in shape. In addition, that person might be experiencing health issues around his/her throat area depending on how long this emotional issue has persisted. When energy flows freely up and down the spine through the energy centers a person has personal power, energy and health. Ideally one's chakras should:

- Be large; the larger the better.
- Expand 360° around one's body in a perfect circle. If the circle deviates from a perfect circle shape it indicates imbalance.
- Appear bright and vibrant as opposed to being cloudy or tainted with dark or black color(s).

How does an ARCH Healing Practitioner clear out and revitalize one's chakras?

The ARCH Healing Practitioner is attuned to four levels of life force energy. Energy is used to treat the energy blockages. High voltages of energy literally clean and energize the chakra system. Doses of energy medicine are given out in rounds (i.e. the ARCH Healing Practitioner treats the client's whole body in several passes. In each of these rounds the ARCH Healing Practitioner places his/her hands around the clients chakras).

- The first round works on clearing out the chakras.
- The second round works on physical healing.
- The third round works on emotional/etheric healing.
- The fourth round works to further energize one's body.
